

Filtering respirator contains a half-mask and a fastening headgear. The fastening headgear features a calibrated elastic strap with a section of cord or webbing attached to it at three points.