

Self-maintained magnetic field transducer with a resistive sensing element based on a complex compound comprises a resistor, a bipolar transistor, an inductance coil and a constant voltage source. Additionally, a resistive sensing element based on a complex compound, second and third capacitances, second, third, fourth and fifth resistors and a second bipolar transistor are introduced.