

Supercritical CO₂ turbo-installation for a double-circuit nuclear power plant includes a heat exchanger, a turbine, a compressor, a supercritical CO₂ cooler before entering the compressor, a heat source. Additionally, it includes a closed circuit with a working substance with a low boiling point, which includes a heat exchanger, a turbine, a pump, an electric generator, and a condenser.