

Method of seed treatment involves treating the seeds with an insecticide-fungicide composition containing at least one fungicide, at least one insecticide and auxiliary agents. Wherein, prothioconazole, fludioxonil, and fluopyram are used as fungicides, and thiamethoxam is used as an insecticide.