

Method for enhancing effectiveness of biological preparations based on entomopathogenic fungi involves adding a substance that reduces the period of delay of the action of entomopathogenic fungi. Wherein, lithium ascorbate is used as the substance at a concentration of 0.48 g/l of lithium at a consumption rate of 96 ml/l of the biological preparation aqueous suspension.