

Screw conveyor consists of a central shaft with a helical screw, which is mounted on bearings so that it can rotate. The working surface of the screw conveyor and the walls of the conveyor housing are fitted with liners made of high-density modified composite polyethylene.