

Aligner splint for orthodontic treatment of malocclusion combined with temporomandibular joint dysfunction, designed as tooth repositioning system, wherein on occlusal surface in posterior region of the jaw, aligner splint is thickened; made of aliphatic vinyl ethyl urethane polymer using CAD/CAM systems using direct 3D printing technology on 3D printers.