

Device for arthrodesis of the shoulder joint in cases of significant bone tissue defects in the proximal humerus consists of a custom-made titanium implant - a fixator-container, having the appropriate dimensions, shape, with threaded holes for medical screws, made with the possibility of fastening the entire embedded structure as follows: proximal humerus - bone graft - scapula.