

Method for modifying the manifestation of the tumor-induced bystander effect, caused by the negative impact of oncologically transformed cells on healthy cells, involves culturing peripheral blood lymphocytes that have interacted with tumor cells, and adding astaxanthin to them at a concentration of 20 µg/ml, which is introduced into the cell culture.