

Filtration drying unit for dispersed materials comprises a housing, feed and discharge pipes, pipes for supplying and removing the drying agent, a vacuum chamber, and a mixing and material transport mechanism in the form of a screw conveyor. The screw shaft is hollow and perforated. The surface of the housing is perforated. The vacuum chamber is cylindrical in shape and surrounds the entire housing from the outside.