

Modular power supply system for an autonomous electronic device comprising an electronic device housing, mounting elements thereof, and at least one battery pack, and comprising at least one battery module installed between the electronic device housing and the mounting element thereof.