

Blade pipe-laying machine for trenchless installation of flexible pipelines by lowering them into vertical soil slot consists of tractor-mounted frame and blade working unit for pulling pipeline into slot. Pipe-laying equipment with wedge-shaped front surface is attached to blade working unit via universal joint, drawbar, and clamping device, wherein its guide rollers, together with guide frames, are made with the possibility of freely laying pipe coil at the bottom of the soil slot.