

Method for producing ferriferous complex compound involves carrying out a complexation reaction between a ligand—which is an aliphatically substituted compound—and an iron salt in a boiling solution. Wherein, as a ligand a tris[3-aza-4-((5-hexadecyloxy)(6-methyl)(2-pyridyl))-3-butenyl]amine is used.