

Plow consists of a frame with a hitch attachment, a support wheel with a mechanism for adjusting the depth of cultivation and plow bodies mounted on the frame, a landside plate consisting of an endless belt and support rollers. Wherein, the endless belt has perforations covering at least 29% of the working surface.