

Jacketed blast packer includes a plastic casing, an elongated thick-walled combustion chamber containing powder charge and an electric divider, a switch and a cable suspension. The lower section of the casing is pre-deformed so that its outer diameter is larger than that of the transition section and even larger than that of the non-deformed section, while not exceeding the inner diameter of the production string of the well for which it is intended.