

Belt conveyor roller consists of a cylindrical shell and bearing assemblies mounted on the shaft via an elastic spacer and secured in the end caps with seals. In addition, the surface of the shell is coated with an elastic layer made of recycled rubber cord material, and the bearings are mounted in a rubber-metal damper consisting of two metal bushings connected by a rubber spacer.