

Design of the protective dome for critical infrastructure facilities is comprised of an outer protective screen and an internal multi-layered protective structure in the form of a dome with an outer protective shell made from armored concrete and metal sheets, mounted on the supporting metal constructions.