

Method for increasing fertility of alfalfa leafcutter bee (Megachile rotundata), in which part of the population is reared the seed pods of plants with high-quality and balanced chemical composition of pollen, separately from the alfalfa seed pods.