

Turbine wheel consists of shaft and aerodynamic blades attached to it. Shaft is made of drive shaft and auxiliary shaft, connected to each other by bellows. Bellows functionally form mechanism for axial displacement of one part of aerodynamic blade relative to another part thereof, with possibility of adjusting aerodynamic characteristics of aerodynamic blade.