

Multi-layer wall structure consists of several layers, one of them being wooden frame. The second layer is monolithic cladding, which is constructed in stages directly on erected frame.