

Method for preparing composition with anti-inflammatory and antimicrobial activity involves mixing the anti-inflammatory enzyme serratiopeptidase with at least one plant extract. The plant extract incorporated into the composition is selected from a group comprising thyme extract, verbena extract, and elderberry extract.