

Magnetic dynamometer consists of a sleeve, a bushing with a stationary magnet, a supports on the movable magnet, and a force sensor. Adapters are attached to the sleeve; the bushing is adjustable; the stationary magnet and the movable magnet are made of neodymium; the support has a guide; the force sensor has a rod with force scales.