

Method for obtaining metal-ceramic powders of hard alloys with Co-Fe combined binding involves the regeneration of metal-ceramic hard alloy powders using molten zinc. In this process, crushed galvanized iron sheet is used as an additional source of zinc and to obtain the combined Co-Fe binder.