

System for navigation in environments with poor visibility includes a helmet frame. The system comprises five ultrasonic sensors, a processing unit, a power supply, a display, an audible buzzer, and conical protective screens.