

Control device for lifting equipment includes at least one remote control capable of transmitting commands at a strictly defined radio frequency, using its own protocol, to a receiver, which, in turn, is connected to a controller. The controller is based on a microprocessor with a built-in Wi-Fi module, and any smartphone or tablet can be used as a remote control.