

Device for tongue and face massage comprises handle and working part made of L-shaped elements arranged in a single plane. Working part comprises outer pair of L-shaped elements of the same size and inner pair of L-shaped elements of the same size; each pair of L-shaped elements is made in the shape of the letter V, and the angle between the L-shaped elements of a single pair ranges from 10° to 90° .