

Dryer for leguminous crops contains a drying chamber, an air duct for the drying agent, gas distribution grids. Contains loading and unloading devices and a diaphragm installed above the gas distribution grids, consisting of two parts, one of which is made with the possibility of movement in the horizontal plane. Wherein the diaphragm is installed with the possibility of movement in the vertical plane, and the unloading device is located between the diaphragm and the gas distribution grids.