

Method for obtaining ammonium nitrate granules coated with zeolite rock. Layer of finely dispersed zeolite with a specified particle size distribution of 160...315 μm is applied to the surface of ammonium nitrate granules in an amount of 5...15 wt.% of the granule mass; the application is carried out in the presence of wetting agent, followed by drying.