

Modular, multi-seat trailer-mounted platform for evacuation and emergency support for casualties includes equipment for accommodating and transporting casualties. The seats are arranged symmetrically around a central vertical axis and are rigidly connected to it, while the central vertical axis is equipped with two crosswise telescopic adapters and an integrated electronic transceiver module designed to receive SOS signals and transmit the casualties coordinates for the purpose of remotely summoning the platform.