

Method for increasing feed conversion, meat productivity and improving meat quality in broiler chickens involves feeding them a balanced compound feed with a feed additive. A fermented water-soluble complex of fatty acids is used as a feed additive in an amount of 1.20-4.30%, depending on the growing period.