

Plow consists of a frame with a hitch, a support wheel with a mechanism for adjusting the depth of cultivation and plow-body legs mounted on the frame, a landside plate consisting of a continuous strip, support wheels and support rollers mounted on axles. Wherein, the support rollers mounted on axles are positioned at an angle of $0^{\circ} \dots 10^{\circ}$ relative to the furrow wall.