

Viscoelastic cleaning piston for pipeline systems is made of a highly elastic material and consists of a container holding a solvent and a capsule inside the piston cap; upon contact with an obstruction, the elastic shell of the solvent container ruptures, and the solvent dissolves both the piston and the pipeline blockage.