

Device for fire containment in buildings and structures using drones consists of a drone and a container attached to its lower part, filled with a special fire-extinguishing powder.