

Fish-counting device consists of a lighting unit, a transparent fish passage channel with an inlet, a hose with a rubber tip, and an outlet. The housing contains the visual data capture equipment and the counting unit.