

Camping kettle consists of a cylindrical body with a coaxial flue inside the cylinder, a spout, and swivel handles. It additionally has at least one flue that runs parallel to the axis of the kettle body.