

Knife drum of the plant residue shredder roller consists of a hollow cylinder, an axle, plates and knives radially and rigidly mounted on the surface of the cylinder. The side surfaces of the knives have holes that are offset by half the distance between them relative to the holes in the knives of the adjacent row.