

A heat pipe is disclosed to include a container, a container lid which includes a groove defined therein, a wick, and an end plug operably coupled to the wick. The end plug includes a pin extending therefrom, and the groove of the container lid is configured to receive the pin.