

Invention relates to treatment of metastatic hormone-sensitive prostate cancer by administering niraparib to a patient in need thereof.