

Invention relates to the field of chemical technology, specifically to catalysts for decomposition of hydrogen peroxide. Catalyst based on a mixed cobalt and manganese ferrite, in which the molar ratio of manganese to cobalt ions is 0.3:0.7.

The invention provides an increase in the catalytic activity of the mixed cobalt-manganese ferrite in the decomposition reaction of hydrogen peroxide.