

The invention relates to a mold set to be inserted in a ski press (2), comprising a lower structure having a base plate (4), a lower contour (5) and a lower heating element (7), and an upper structure having a cover plate (16), an upper contour (15) and an upper heating element, so that a ski mold can be inserted between the lower structure and the upper structure.